Learn at Home to Be a Telecommunications Technician

Penn Foster Career School

Your Future as a Telecommunications Technician.

You can join the ranks of trained Telecommunications Technicians now working around the world, in as little as 16 months, with at-home training from Penn Foster Career School. Here are just a few of the options available when you complete your Career Diploma program:

- Work for a telecommunications company, installing and repairing high-tech equipment.
- Work for a hospital, electronics repair shop or other business that relies heavily on telecommunications equipment and keeping the lines of communication open to make a profit.

Prepare for a High-Growth, High-Salary Career.

As the number of households and businesses grows, so does the volume of telecommunications equipment and the need for trained Telecommunications Technicians. The demand for skilled professionals to service, install, and repair this equipment and keep it functioning will mean job opportunities for you — if you have the right skills.

Trained and experienced Telecommunications Technicians do important work that commands respect, admiration, and gratitude from customers and coworkers.

It Pays to Continue Your Education.

The need for training and retraining in new skills for today's changing job market has motivated many adults to continue their education. In the United States, during 2002-2003, 40% of all persons aged 16 and above participated in adult education for work related purposes.† This trend will likely continue across the globe.

Penn Foster addresses this growing need with Career Diploma programs like Telecommunications Technician. Preparing for your new career is easy and convenient.

- There is no going to class, no need to rearrange schedules. You choose the time and place to complete your coursework.
- You work at your own pace — as quickly as you like — and you don't have to take time from job and social responsibilities.
- The learning materials you need are sent to you for your convenience.
- You can study online, through the printed page, or a combination of both. You decide which method best suits your learning style.
- You can also email your instructor, check your grades, or review your student records online.
- You need no previous experience. Easy-to-understand lessons guide you from the beginning to the end of your program.

Penn Foster Career School Is Accredited.

- Accredited by the Middle States Commission on Secondary Schools for its vocational-technical programs.
